CallBack Example

- Client sends a Request that contains a time t (int) to the server
- The server creates a Thread that sleeps t seconds and then replies to the client
- The client should create a remote Object to allow the Thread of the server to contact him

